Name of Speaker: ALEX DAVY

Company (representative of): Freelance Designer for Animation

Website: www.alexdavynet

Background:

Storyboard artist and Designer for animation.

The Business/Company:

I mainly freelance for Arcus Animation Studios, who create 2D animations for BBC Bitesize, Channel 4 Random Acts, and many others whilst also developing their own ideas. My company I suppose is me?? My commissions cover a pretty wide range of design - graphics, app vectors, watercolour illustrations, animated adverts for social media, brand identity, but my core love is storyboarding for animation.

Alex's presentation will concentrate on:

- I'll be summing up what makes a great work experience or intern in an animation studio (and what makes a terrible work experience or intern!)
- How to face your shyness head on, working in a creative team requires working on yourself as a person now, and the difference between shy and quiet.
- A short story on how I had no guidance or faith in myself, had never heard of animation as a career, and still managed to get myself to where I am.
- A summary on a step-by-step guide on how exactly to up your skills in your own time, finding your own mentors, and learning the right software and hardware on a budget.
